If anybody is interested in remote security for a Site. One of my PRP Sites uses this as their security. And it's worked in apprehending personnel.

Not sure if the price includes monitoring as well, but it will send images to an email address and can be set up so that an alarm company can monitor it.

If we did have this in our resources, it could be used at more than one Site - not simultaneously of course, unless we had a larger volume of the supplies. Just food for thought:
